Dr. R. Grant Ingram

The Grant Ingram Visiting Lecturer Program has been established to honour Dr. Ingram's contributions to St. John's College by bringing in speakers with expertise in areas which were of particular interest to him.

Dr. Ingram (1945-2007) was a distinguished physical oceanographer whose scholarly work was a constant backdrop to the service he performed at the University of British Columbia, initially as founding Principal of St. John's College, then later as Dean of Science Pro Tem, Associate Dean, Strategic Planning and Research in the Faculty of Science and as Principal of the College for Interdisciplinary Studies.

Before joining UBC, Dr. Ingram had been Chair of the Institute of Oceanography and Professor in the Department of Atmospheric and Oceanic Sciences at McGill, from where he attained his BSc and MSc prior to his PhD in the joint program of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution.

Dr. Ingram was named 2006 Fellow of The Oceanographic Society and was named a Fellow of the Canadian Meteorological and Oceanographic Society in 2007.

One of Grant's enduring interests was Aboriginal issues, including poverty, health, education, environment, youth, and housing.
