Tales and Music from the East-West Cultural
Crossroad

Tuesday, May 5, 2009

7:30-9:00 PM

St. John's College Fairmont Social Lounge
2111 Lower Mall, UBC

St. John's College is delighted to host Harry Aoki (bass and harmonica) and friends for an evening featuring Turkish music. The programme will also include an illustrated overview of the folk tales of Nasreddin Hoca, the beloved populist wise man and trickster of 13th century Turkey. His stories have traveled throughout the Middle East, South Asia, Central Asia, East Asia (all the way to Beijing), Africa, and Europe.

For more information about this event, please contact Prof. Chris Lee (chrism1@interchange.ubc.ca). Join us for dinner before the performance ($10.50 for students and $14.00 regular)! Tickets can be purchased in the Administration Office at St. John's College. Please contact Stacy at 822-8781 or sjc.events@ubc.ca to make your dinner reservation and/or for more information.
